RAIL MANAGEMENTS SUBMIT PROPOSALS TO THEIR WORKERS

WILL ATTEMPT TO STABILIZE EMPLOYMENT

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(P)—Come Saturday, Chicago will celebrate two years of zero-weather. Not since Jan. 23, 1930, has the thermometer in the Windy City plunged down to zero or below. On that day, it reached four below. Once, on the next Nov. 28, the temperature slid down to within one degree of the zero mark. Only twice before—in 1906 and 1908—have years gone by without zero weather. But never before, the weather man said, has there been two years consecutively.

Rufus Dawes Denies Exposition To Be Postponed

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(P)—The side-walk "whispering campaign" to the contrary, Rufus C. Dawes made it clear today that the Century of Progress will be "at home" to the world next year on the day scheduled: June 1, 1933. A "pay as you go" plan will assure the opening of the World Fair, the president of the centennial exposition said in an address intended to quash the recurrent rumors that a year's postponement would be in order. The Century of Progress assumes no expense, enters upon no contract until the money is in hand to pay for it. In no case, said Dawes, will the exposition risk its solvency to achieve mere magnificence.

Employees Are Asked To Accept Wage Reduction

The presidents had the floor today in their negotiations with union leaders and they covered almost every point made thus far by either side.

This is a picture of the fake warrant which is alleged to have lured Joseph Kahahawai, young Hawaiian, to his death in Honolulu. The warrant was reported to have been shown to him by persons who induced him to go to an automobile in front of the Hawaiian capital's Judiciary Building—the last time his friends saw him alive. Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society woman, and three U. S. navy men have been arrested in connection with the murder of Kahahawai.

Secretary Claims Post Armistice Loans Were Illegal

Washington, Jan. 21.—(P)—An assertion by Secretary Hyde that the Wilson administration's post-armistice loans to Europe were illegal today aroused Senator Glass of Virginia to an emphatic denial and an ardent defense of the man under whom he served as secretary of the treasury. The senator declared that the Wilson administration's post-armistice loans to Europe were legal and that the Wilson administration's post-armistice loans to Europe were legal.

Carlyle, Ill., Jan. 21.—(P)—Strengthening the suicide theory advanced by defense counsel in the trial of Daniel Blanks, a Chicago musician charged with the slaying of his brother, Ishmael, four witnesses for the defense testified today they had heard Ishmael threaten on several occasions to take his life. George McKinney, Centralia restaurant owner, testified that the afternoon session that a few days before Ishmael was fatally wounded in his automobile near a dance hall in Carlyle county last November 22, he had heard the youth in conversation with his friends in his restaurant threaten to take his life.

Extremists were reported to have seized control of the local governments in Baza, Salent and other towns and proclaimed a "social revolution." #### The Kelly Plan

Mayor Cermak is right when he says it will take more than the newly authorized Kelly plan to aid Chicago.
This law merely sets up the machinery
for a new assessment of the machine and a review of cases. It will be months before the plan can function
and the renewed interests of Chicago
will not allow it to go without a court test.

Meanwhile the Chicago city employees and school teachers must work
for little or nothing, and the taxpayers
can remain quiet and not contributing. Unless the legislature passes some more laws, Chicago will not begin to feel any benefits from the new legislation.

Downstate are beginning to wonder
why they can't withhold their tax money; they want to know what is to prevent them from refusing en masse
to pay taxes. They see their construction programs delayed, the state institutions suffering, and the entire state government crumpled, all because Chicagoans won't pay taxes.

However, most citizens downstate
do not want to be in the position Chicago taxpayers occupy. They don't want their local governments all shot
to pieces and their public treasuries
drained and their schools smashed.
They are willing to carry on to pay their taxes and to carry their share
of the burden of state government.
But they do not desire to carry also Chicago's share.

If the legislature can do anything
more to bring speedy relief to Chicago
and to start her back taxes flowing toward Springfield, it would be well
to heed Mayor Cermak's SOS and pass
whatever further legislation he has up his sleeve. Chicago ought to realize that Illinois has not granted her a state tax moratorium.

Hold The Islands

General William Mitchell, in a current article, indicates that Japan has her eye on the Philippines, and that she has an island outpost only sixty miles to the north. He says Japan is draining her power southward toward the islands along the Asiatic coast
and seeks to take Borneo and other large islands, so that she will have Asia framed by her possessions.

The Philippines are directly in the path of the Japanese advance, and if they were to be given their independence, it would not be long before Japan would find some pretext
for occupying them as she did Manchuria. Japan needs virgin land for her expansion; she needs raw material, and some of the Pacific islands
have what she needs.

If this is true, Uncle Sam had better hold the Philippines, and hold them tightly. If independence for the islands would be so short-lived, there would be no use in granting it. There are several million people in the islands who fare far better under American rule than they would under that of Japan. If the Japs are out for conquest, they would of course exploit
the Philippines to strengthen their war powers.

It would seem that the "Yellow Peril," which once frightened the people into a belief that an Oriental war was imminent, is being revived. It is too bad that relations between the two great Pacific powers, the United States and Japan, are growing strained; yet there appears to be an increasing resentment toward America
at Tokyo, due to recent rather undiplomatic acts of the Washington government.

The attitude of Japan gives the Philippines more importance. The talk of independence has almost ceased,
and the United States is not at present considering any moves in that direction. In fact, President Hoover has sent to the islands as governor
the strongest man in the United States
service, Theodore Roosevelt, to replace Dwight Davis, resigned. The change is rather significant right at this time.
If Japan is contemplating any farther southern advance among the Pacific islands, she will find it by no means easy.

Communications

January 21, 1932
To the Editor of the Jacksonville Journal:

As a Kentuckian by birth and an Illinoisian by marriage I read with re-signment the editorial in your paper
this morning entitled, "Hawaii-Kentucky."

What with Herrin in the background, and convicts and racketeers
running riot in Chicago and other cities, it scarcely behooves an Illinois
newspaper to probe into Kentucky history, past and contemporary, and hold it up for criticism, especially at this time. At least, when they have a killing in Kentucky, the funeral can be conducted decently and in order!

To quote from your editorial "Kentucky must sweep her own doorstep
before she can reach across to Hawaii
with her long-handled broom of criticism." So it would be well to wait until Illinois has swept her own much cluttered doorstep before criticizing so freely her sister (?) state Kentucky.

After all, Kentucky has had just cause for criticism as Uncle Sam's investigation attests, but what has Kentucky done that an Illinois newspaper
is so ready to jump on her?

DUCK SAVING PLAN READY FOR ACTION WHEN CONGRESS IS

Washington, Jan. 21.—Oscar H.
Johnson, game director of South Dakota, a state which formerly ranked high as a nesting area for wild ducks
but whose favorable waterways places
have been reduced an estimated 90 per cent by agriculture, drainage and drought, has informed the American Game Association that his department
is now prepared with definite plans
for aiding in the restoration of waterfowl as soon as a nation-wide program financed by wild-fowl shooters, has been authorized by congress. Backed by a recent national conference of game officials in New York City, a committee of experts is now being reflected to decide in what manner
water-fowl sportsmen should contribute. The decision of this national committee, which has the pledged support
of practically every state and organization, will be presented to congress
as an emergency plan, financed entirely by sportsmen.

"Although there are objections to federal control of what might rightfully be viewed as a state prerogative,"
said Johnson, "I agree that the only method of a federal agency can be an effective restoration program because in view of the tragic waterfowl changes, for a single state to venture upon a plan of this nature
would seem hopeless, since migratory birds are not confined to one state or even to the sportsmen of other states as well."

South Dakota's share in a nationwide effort to bring back destroyed
waterfowl nesting, resting and feeding grounds occupied by Mr. Johnson would involve an expenditure of $500,000 over a five-year period, and would, he said, produce in a comparatively short time ten times the number of birds required for home consumption.

The game director will propose that
at least 25,000 acres of his state,
averaging 1,000 acres or more each,
should be purchased, fenced, planted
with fast-growing shrubs and aquatic plants and allowed to revert into natural swamps. This land is now of little value otherwise, he said, and could be bought at a very low average cost.

EDUCATIONAL TALK HEARD BY KIWANIANS

"Education in Kiwanis," was the subject of a talk made by Wesley B.
Wallraven, Springfield, lieutenant-governor of the eleventh division of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district of Kiwanis clubs, at a meeting of the local club Thursday. It was the occasion of Mr. Wallraven's official visit to the club.

"Education," said the speaker, "is
the training of the whole man for efficient living, it is not the process of pouring facts into a man's head. This rule applies to Kiwanis, which provides training for the whole man.
However, before he can be taught his duties, he must know and love the subject he is teaching, and there must be a definite goal."

The object of Kiwanis said Mr.
Wallraven is to provide values to be gained through friendly meetings,
gatherings of men of diverse professions and occupations. The meetings are also held with the idea of giving primacy to spiritual things, something that is not obtainable on the streets.

The speaker brought out that few men really know others, but that Kiwanis offers this opportunity. Through the members learn who the other man is, and often things in him
that are opposite to what was expected to be found.

Guests at the meeting included
Judge F. C. Fink, Eugene Mellon, J.
F. McElvin and Rev. Father O'Mulane
of Winchester, and Sherman Ottis, Arnold Lovejoy and George Otto of Jacksonville.

"MASTER OF THE WORLD"
HARUN AL-RASHID: Caliph of Bag-
dad. By Gabriel Audisio. Robt. M.
McBride & Co. 1931. $3.50.

In every age, since human animals
became thinking beings, some man
has cherished the ambition to become "master of the world"—his world. If this knowledge extended far beyond
his own locality, his ambitions stretched out to the farthest confines of the known world. Such a man was Harun Al-Rashid, Caliph of Bagdad in the latter part of the eighth century. And,
unlike most men who have dreamed that dream, he was fulfilled. He became head of his country and, as such,
the supreme "Commander of the Faithful," and as such, endowed with almost unlimited power over the destinies of myriads of people. Young, handsome (being scarcely twenty-four when he became Caliph), he entered upon a life as amazing and bizarre
as anything described in the tales of the "Thousand and One Nights." Most of us are apt to think of him as a sort of mythical hero of those old times.
But he was a very real man; a maker
of history; a legend. He carried civilization far beyond the point at which he found it on his accession to the throne.

The early part of Harun's reign was given over to pleasure; and the management of his vast affairs was largely
left in the hands of his grand vizier, Yahia, and his two sons, Harun was a devotee of poetry and music, and surrounded himself with artists who could minister to his love of beauty and perfection. He was well educated and highly cultured himself; and only
the best literature, music, and other arts satisfied his craving. On the death of his father, his older brother, son of a woman who had been a Persian slave, had ascended the throne. But not for long did Harun remain there. With his intriguing mother plotting with him, and with the great Barmecide, Yahia, on his side,
success was not long in coming to Harun. Family affection stood no chance against individual ambition in the Caliphate of Bagdad!

It is a picturesque and amazing figure which emerges from Mr. Audisio's pages; a man of intellect and far-reaching vision who was at times as inhuman as Nero. His is a marvelous story, which the author has told well.

"THE PROTECTIVE INSTINCT"
THE ORCHID. By Robert Nathan.
Bobbs-Merrill Co. 1931. $2.00.

Have you read "The Orchid"? It is very charming; with all the delicacy
of touch that readers of Robert Nathan have learned to expect. Its chief characters are: Professor Pen-nauer, a teacher of pianists who has long ago laid aside his early ambitions to become a virtuoso; Rose Grogarty, a beautiful and idolized actress (whose young son the Professor teaches—or tries to teach—music); her hairdresser, Mrs. Connor;
and a young Italian pianist who had
at one time sung in opera (in the chapel) in Italy, and who now was engaged in the business of running a mercy-go-round in New York. The place is that metropolis; and the time, those first days when Spring
comes to the city, and the South, setting suspenseful hearts aflame and filling the air with the ersatz of love and disillusioned with nameless yearnings.

The story is a record of the effect of the subtle spring atmosphere upon
a diverse group of people. In addition to those named above, I forgot to mention Julian Heavenstreet, steel magnate, the possessor of "that protective instinct" which his really dear
and little wife had failed to bring out;
and Alma Heavenstreet, the wife, who craved with all her heart to be loved and protected, but who, instead, spent her time doing club and civic work
and acting on committees and writing to the newspapers about matters
that didn't really interest her, simply because she thought it was expected of her. So Julian was in love with Rose Grogarty. He longed to remove her from her arduous stage duties, to carry her off to Europe and "take care of her"—at the same time having a grand holiday with her.

All this was unknown to Alma, who knew that her relations with her husband were unsatisfactory; but had the least idea in the world what to do about it. The spring got into the blood of Mrs. Connor, the hairdresser,
too; and she wanted above all things
to be loved. How all these diverse characters became entangled, and
how their different problems and puzzles
were worked out, is told quite beautifully by Mr. Nathan, whose touch has never been more delicate
and whose understanding never more entirely in evidence than in this delicious bit of fiction. Here we have a wise old Professor, kindly and sympathetic; an actress torn between devotion to her career and a life of ease

and luxury in which she must consent to be "taken care of," a rich man, strongly endowed with the protective instinct; a wife who longed to be protected but was lost in a maze of custom that bewildered her; a hairdresser who longed for a manly
bosom upon which to rest her head;
and a young man still believing he could find and astonish the musical world.
Perhaps it was the magic of spring;
or just a combination of circumstances. But it was only when all of them "became as little children" that they found the way out of their difficulties. Suture without a sting goes hand in hand with Spring's airy loveliness through this delectable tale.

News comes to us that Frederick
A. Stokes Co. and the Yale University Press have formed an association; as a result of which, commencing Jan.
15, the Stokes Co. will act as trade
representative for the Yale University publications. It is also planned to publish occasional works of importance
under the joint imprint of the two organizations.

"BUT THE SEA CALLED"
"I'M ALONE," by Captain Jack Ran-
dell. Told to Meigs O. Frost. Bobbs-Merrill Co. $3.50.

This is a strange story of a sea-
rover whose forebears had followed the sea as far back as their records went.
"Randell sailed with Sir Francis Drake and fought the Spanish Armada
under him. A Randell sailed with Frobisher and Grenville and Lord Nelson.
We sailed before that. We've been sailing ever since. Our family records are clear for over 500 years, and in every generation there has been a Randell who was a sea-captain."

It was in 1715, when the British took Newfoundland from the French, that
the author's great-great-grandfather,
a sailing master in the British navy,
came to the New World, liked the place, and decided to settle there. The mother of the author was born in Newfoundland in 1789, and his earliest memories
are of the sea. "The sound of it and the talk of it" were always in his ears. No wonder, then, that the sea should have claimed him at an early age.

Although his first attempt to run away
to sea, at the age of twelve, came to nothing, his parents were wise enough
to let him go on a voyage in a fishing schooner that same year. They were believers in letting youngsters "learn by experience." The first chapter is full of the boy's early sea experiences.
Having been thus initiated, Jack father decided that, since his boy was determined on a sailor's life, he had better sail with his brother on a ship
that was in the S. American trade.

The second chapter records his experiences on that trade route. American voyagers as a sailor "before the mast," a voyage to London "in steam,"
and then back home—having had enough of steam.

The Boer war had just begun; and Jack Randell, physically perfect, eager for adventure, decided to enlist and
and, for the time at least, forsake the sea for a horse. Giving his age as 21
instead of 20, he soon found himself a member of the Royal Canadian Artillery; and presently he was en route to Cape Town in the "Rollin' Polly"—who didn't believe in names! The author's war experiences will fascinate men and boys. Indeed, the whole narrative will; for it is full of adventure from beginning to end, adventure on land
as well as sea. When the World War came on, Capt. Randell quickly found a place waiting for him. Here we find him working against German spies;
submarine chasing about England;
receiving a decoration from the king.

After the war, Capt. Randell became a "run-runner; in course of time acquiring his own ship, the "I'm Alone."
Several chapters are given to accounts
of his running, being chased by revenue
cutters, the dangers encountered;
and finally, the sinking of his ship,
after being shelled by the coast guard.
In ending this tale of adventures as true as they are exciting, the author says: "These men are liars who tell you the days of adventure are dead.
What they really mean is that THEY are dead, though the undertaker hasn't found it out yet. Adventure is a living thing, so long as there are men and women, sea and land, and ships to sail that sea on this planet."

RICARDO CORTEZ IS ACTUALLY THE MAN WHO CAME BACK

Rose to Heights, Flopped, and Now Is on Top Again

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood—There is only one thing
that gives a man a more triumphant feeling than attaining success—that is rising from the depths after he has sunk to the heights and then "flopped."

Ricardo Cortez is authority for that statement and "Ric" is in a pretty good position to know. He experienced the feeling of struggling from extra banks to stardom. And during the last year he has gone through the even greater experience of a man who was through finding himself once more on top.

"I still can't explain it," Cortez
told me. "I am no different now than when you first knew me. Nor do I act any differently. It is just one of those things which happen in pictures."

"Two years ago I couldn't even get into a studio. Nobody would have given me a part if I had offered to play it for nothing. I haven't the faintest idea why I became such poison at the studios. But in two years' time I worked in only one picture, a small independent. Then all of a sudden everyone wanted me at once. I had more offers than I could take."

"It all happened quickly, too. For two years things had been pretty tough, both at home and in a business, even attaining the distinction of being the only man or woman in Hollywood ever to be billed above the great Garbo. The billing on the Swedish star's first production read,
"The Torrent," with Ricardo Cortez
and Greta Garbo. Since that first picture, Garbo never has played second to anybody."

From those heights it was a fast ride to oblivion. Not a producer in Hollywood would even consider Cortez for a role. Then, as producers invariably will do, when one decided there might be a spark of life still in him, they all wanted him.

There is no way of explaining why Cortez is back. Or perhaps it would be more correct to say there is no way

of explaining why he was so suddenly shoved out of the picture. What he said about not changing is true. I have known him several years and he is the same man now as he was then—intensely serious about his work, appreciative and always willing to give the other fellow a lift.

Four or five years ago "Ric" was one

NAME WINNERS OF VETS, AUXILIARY MEDAL AWARDS

James Buckley, son of John Buckley, 752 Hardin avenue, and Evelyn Suter, daughter of Mrs. Etta Ahlquist, 444 South Main street, were announced Thursday evening as the respective winners of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary school awards at the David Prince school.

Each year the American Legion medal is awarded by the Legion to the boy of the graduating class who best represents those qualities of character and ability, which the organization believes, when properly cultivated and matured, will result in worthy citizenship, and well rounded manhood. The medal itself is of bronze, uniform in type and was designed by the eminent sculptor, R. Taft McKenzie. On one side appears the American eagle and the emblem of the American Legion, and on the reverse words American Legion school award for courage, leadership, honor, service and scholarship.

The local post, which is Jacksonville post, No. 279, will present this medal to James Buckley through its commander, L. F. O'Neil, this afternoon. It selected his name after consulting with the teachers and the members of the eighth grade class who vote separately on the five qualifications set forth as the basis of the award.

The same basis for selection is used in choosing the girl who will receive the award from the American Legion Auxiliary. Courage, character, service, companionship and scholarship are the qualifications which are considered. Mrs. Clyde Black, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, will present the medal to Evelyn Suter in the exercises today.

The purpose of these awards is based upon the aim of the Legion to make every man and every woman a better American and to make every boy and girl grow up to be a good citizen and an upholder of the laws and a defender of the constitution. It is felt that upon graduation from grammar schools a boy or girl has reached an impressionable age and is at the threshold of entrance either upon a more extensive education or into the bread-earning world.

PROPOSED BILLS WOULD RAISE TAXES

Any doubt as to the necessity of decreasing the cost of government to prevent a further burden of taxation upon business will be brushed aside by an analysis of the revenue bills introduced at Springfield up to January 13, according to a statement concerning these bills made Thursday by the legislative department of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. There are, says the State Chamber, a large number of bills in the Senate and House all of which, if passed, would add materially to the tax burden now borne by Illinois business.

"It is evident," says the report, "that retail stores would come in for the heavy share of the burden. While merchants would also be affected by income taxes, increase in the gas tax and in other general measures they would, if the bills passed, be taxed on jewelry, jewels, tobacco, art goods, antiques, silverware, confectionery, ice cream, soft drinks, drugs, furs, and many other items. They would also be paying a store license tax and face the chance of paying a retail sales tax which is all inclusive."

The Tendency To Tax.

The report also pointed out other bills which show the tendency of legislators to get more tax monies rather than to cut down the cost of government itself. Bills are before the two bodies covering taxes on incomes, real and personal property sales, transfer of stock certificates, horse bets, places of public amusement, increasing the gas tax from three to five cents, instrument in writing, future trading transactions, vehicle trailers, radiation charges of gas companies, recording of mortgages and trust deeds, receiverships, real estate transfers, insurance premiums and conditional sales contracts.

"These measures," says the report, "clearly show the tendency of the legislature to seek new sources of revenue rather than to obviate the necessity thereof by cutting existing government costs. Their volume and their severity point to an immediate termination of the capacity of the tax payer to pay. Every thinking business man should carefully read, among others, Senate Bills No. 21, 56, 58, 60, 61, 70, 71, 93, 97, 98, 103, 109, 113, 117, 120, 123, 127, 139 and 139. He should also, if he wants to find out the trend of the time, study House Bills No. 17, 19, 20, 44, 51, 70, 71, 73, 74, 168, 176, 180, 186, 200, 234, 242, 244, 245, 246 and 251. Without going into the merits of these bills their quantity and their purpose is sufficient to indicate the serious confronting a business world already heavily burdened with taxation."

TRAVELING MAN ENDORSES ALL-BRAN

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me.

"I am on the road all the time, and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels all the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to any one suffering as I did." — Mr. B. F. Follard, Marion, N. C.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN provides both. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective, ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two table-spoons daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Mich.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
GIVEN BY NEA SERVICE INC.

A mother is worried because a neighbor has suddenly decided not to allow her little girl to play with this lady's small son.

"What am I to do?" asks this mother. "Robert is a little gentleman and he cannot understand why Ruth won't play with him any more. Ruth has gone off with a new girl just moved here and although the three played together beautifully for a week or two, now Robert has lost his old friend and he is heartbroken. We two mothers supervise their play and everything was fine—I know there was no complaint to be made in any way. I have an idea that the new child's mother objects to boys in general from something she said. Is it all right for boys and girls to play together?"

I told her that it certainly was—in fact they should. There has been much talk on the question but it is now unanimously agreed that boys are good for girls and girls are good for boys. There should be no sex line in the first place. Deliberately separate them, particularly if there are mysterious remarks accompanying the interference, only makes them conscious of something that should not be there.

Children, until they are approaching adolescence, have little or no sex consciousness. They like the same things, have largely the same instincts and tastes and think only of each other as pals.

Group Interests Important
If they are guided toward interesting activities, play games together, have parties, if there are particularly are encouraged to group interests, the friendships of boys and girls are necessary to the full rounding out of life.

From boys, girls learn to be less emotional, they learn to be good losers, think less of their own feelings and develop an interest in things outside themselves.

From girls, boys learn consideration, sympathy, gentleness and alertness. I think it is wise to guide the activities of such groups and to fill their minds with wholesome respect for each other. Certain frank and satisfying talks with them will govern the natural curiosity of the growing child. Street talk should be dismissed by our own sense in informing them of as many fundamental facts as is necessary for them to know. This is an important point—the age of the child should determine the nature of our conversation.

Parents can do harm by over-emphasizing the question of difference. Let them accept difference as a natural thing. Open frank friendship does not think of it.

The girl or boy who has always played with mixed friends will have a right attitude when he or she reaches maturity. To be truthful, there is often great harm done by cooping girls up with girls and boys with boys, then when they are sixteen or twenty suddenly unlocking the doors.

To most families this winter, the high costs of colds are an extra burden. Loss of time, health and money are involved. To reduce the drain of this burdensome family "Colds-Tax" is the purpose of the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to lessen their number, severity and duration.

Plan Follows New Discovery
The Vick Plan is made possible with Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea for "preventing" colds, this new Vick discovery is compared to Vicks VapoRub, the modern way of "treating" colds. Each aids and supplements the other for better "Control-of-Colds."

Here, briefly, is the Vick Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts

Watch yourself whenever you have been exposed to anything that you know is apt to give you a cold, such as—

Contact with others having fresh colds—crows, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on a Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature—inhaling smoke, dust, gases—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking, which reduce body resistance—after a hard day when you are over tired.

Then—if you feel that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages, Na-

D. LOGAN GIFFIN TALKS ON STATE TAX PROBLEMS

Says Officials Give Citizens
Just What They Ask; Speaks
Before B. P. W. C.

If the present governmental period of depression and discontent is analyzed fairly and without prejudice, the citizens of the state of Illinois will find that public officials are giving them just what they themselves have requested, with this thought Representative D. Logan Giffin of Springfield addressed members of the Jacksonville Business and Professional Women's club last evening in a meeting at the Pantages hotel. Illustrating his point the speaker later showed that the increase in taxes which is causing so much of the criticism is the result not so much of state and county levies as those of the townships where the citizens themselves voted the expensive measure.

The meeting of Thursday evening was managed by the club legislative committee of which Mrs. Ella Sheffield acts as chairman. Mrs. A. B. Applebee called upon Mrs. Sheffield to preside at the close of the business and in turn Mrs. Sheffield introduced the contributors to the program. Miss Jessie Frew did a clever Scotch dance for the members, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Carl Markille. Following, Robert Geis sang two numbers "Hills of Home" and "Trees" and an enthusiastic rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was given by Mrs. Markille played by her accompanist.

Mrs. Giffin stressed during his remarks the spirit of discontent and fault-finding which prevails throughout the state today. He expressed his belief that the terrible situation which confronts the modern men and women is caused by their own actions, mainly during the recent World war which took vast sums of money out of their legitimate channels and threw them into destructive action.

The problem of revenue problems as Giffin's statement as he went from examples in foreign countries to the Illinois situation which he has seen in the past sessions of the General Assembly. The resentment against payment of taxes is growing to the extent that the officials are feeling the pressure and in many cases the worth while men are being driven out of office. Much talk is made of cuts in state salaries, pointed out Mr. Giffin, but it is not widely realized that only 7 to 10 per cent of the taxes go to the state and when hard roads and schools are taken out, barely two per cent is left.

The conflict between Cook county and downstate as recently expressed in the revenue problem was also outlined by Representative Giffin. He cited the large debt which the northern county owes the state and made clear the evasion of payment of personal property tax which has been allowed there for the past thirty years.

Members of the supper committee for the meeting were Miss Fern Taylor, Miss Marjorie Thelvig and Miss Grace Tickle.

HOWARD BURCH JOINS IN RACE FOR CORONER

The Republican race for coroner in the primary election April 12 was treated to another dose of public interest Thursday when it became known that Constable Howard Burch is to enter the field. Petitions were taken out from the county clerk's office by Burch's supporters and placed in circulation.

Mr. Burch has been connected with several public offices during the last few years. He has had experience as a deputy sheriff and as constable.

The list of Republican candidates for the job of coroner continues to grow, and there are rumors of still others who will get into the free-for-all race.

The Democrats will have several candidates from which to make their selection. Howard Woodman is expected to make the race, his petitions having been taken out several days ago.

Grade School Notes

In connection with their reading and composition the pupils of the third grade at Morton school have been studying about Benjamin Franklin. The pupils wrote papers about this great man of history and some of the articles are published below.

Benjamin Franklin was a great man. He started a printing press, and he printed a paper called "Poor Richards Almanac." He went to Philadelphia and started a Fire Department, Police force, Library, schools, and Hospital.

He wanted to be clean, orderly, thrifty, and unselfish. He made a stove called Franklin stove. It will not waste wood. He wrote many wise sayings. And here is one: "Early to bed early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

He helped the Thirteen Colonies win their freedom. He discovered that electricity could be used. He was born 226 years ago.

The garden itself has been worked out in the sand table, serving to motivate their language work. Following is a story written by the children, "Our Language Garden."

We have a very, very pretty garden. Every flower in our garden is a word. If we say a word wrong we put in a weed. We are correcting ourselves when we pull the weed out.

When we say the word just right it is watering our garden. We all like out "Language Garden." The garden makes us think very, very hard.

We feel proud of our garden.

SPECIAL PRAYERS WILL BE GIVEN FOR UNEMPLOYED

Special prayers "For the Unemployed" and "For the peace of the world" will be said in every Episcopal church throughout the world, Sunday, January 24th. That day, known as Septuagesima in the church calendar, which is the third Sunday before the beginning of the Lenten season, has been set aside by the social service department of the church for the reason that, "In this particular year the special call is that each parish may increase its effectiveness as a character building and moral sustaining agency."

"Many devoted churchmen," says the call, "pray daily for the relief of the unemployed through no fault of their own and for the creation of a more fair, more just and more Christian social order. The services of the day can be made a corporate act of determination to link the wills of the worshippers to the social needs which face them."

Specifically designated as "Social Service Sunday," it is suggested that on the day specified a corporate communion and breakfast be had in each parish by social workers, volunteer assistants, board members of social institutions and agencies and friends of social work; and that some other meeting such as an informal luncheon or supper be held, at which churchmen may meet the leading social workers of the community and hear of their work. The call is issued by the Rev. C. Rankin Barnes, executive secretary of the social service department from the offices of the National Council of the Church.

VIRGINIAN NAMED SHIPPER DIRECTOR

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Shippers were saved $50,000 last year and about $1,000,000 in ten years, it was reported at the tenth annual meeting of the Producers' Live Stock Commission Company here yesterday.

About 150 delegates from Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas attended the meeting, presided over by President J. R. Fulkerson of Jerseyville, Ill.

The company sold 13,672 carloads or about 1,000,000 head of cattle, and bought 367 carloads of feeder cattle last year, it was also reported.

Fulkerson, A. E. Crum of Virginia, Ill., and E. L. Smith of Fulton, Mo., were elected directors.

Birthdays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schene of Aberdeen, S. D., should be a simple matter. The quadruplets shown above—Jean, James, Joan and Jay—celebrated their first anniversary the other day. And if their father ever played poker, he'd have four of a kind at home all the time.

MEMBERS OF BAR AGREE TO SUPPORT NON-PARTISANS

Attorneys Adopt Resolution to be For Non-Contested
Slate For Judges

Members of the Morgan County Bar Association met on Thursday morning to support a non-partisan, non-contested slate of two candidates for circuit judge in the Seventh District. If such an agreement can be reached among bar members in all the counties.

The resolution presented and adopted at the meeting of the Morgan Bar Association was drafted in Springfield Tuesday of this week at a conference of attorneys from counties in the district who are interested in the non-partisan plan. A committee of members from the local association was appointed to work with others in setting up the machinery by which they hope to bring out harmony candidates.

Appointment of Judge Norman L. Jones to the bench of the Illinois supreme court, and of Judge Charles G. Briggie to the U. S. federal court caused vacancies on the circuit bench which must be filled. The lawyers supporting the non-partisan plan point to similar action in past years, which led to selection of highly efficient and able jurists.

While such a plan would leave an open course for the selection of two Republicans and two Democrats, it is hardly probable that such would be done. The current belief is that a member of each party will be named, provided the non-partisan plan is carried into effect.

Both parties, of course, will hold conventions for the purpose of nominating candidates. Should the harmony slate be worked out, the work of the convention probably would be simplified. The conventions then either would not nominate candidates, or endorse the non-partisan candidates upon whom approval had been placed by the various bar associations.

The text of the resolution passed by the Morgan county lawyers is: Whereas, the Seventh Judicial Circuit in the State of Illinois has in the past by non-partisan judicial elections elected to the Circuit Court Bench, judges of unquestioned integrity, fairness and legal ability, and

Whereas, one of such judges has been elevated to the Supreme Court of Illinois, and another has been appointed Judge of the District Court of the United States for Southern Illinois, and by reason thereof, two va-

"WILD IRISHMEN" LEAD REVOLT, ESCAPE

Argentina's "Three Wild Irishmen," Mario, Roberto and Eduardo Kennedy, shown left to right above, conducted a short-lived but spectacular revolution the other day and are still alive—probably in Uruguay—to tell the tale. With a few followers they captured the town of La Paz, successfully defeated troops and bombing planes in a dense wood near their ranch, then escaped across the border.

Whereas, said vacancies have created an emergency which will require a special judicial election, and

Whereas, the Bar of this District deem it to be a matter of fundamental importance that the high standard for Circuit Judges heretofore set shall be maintained hereafter,

Be it therefore, resolved: First, that the lawyers of the Seventh Judicial Circuit of the State of Illinois, through their respective Bar Associations, recommend to the respective judicial conventions of this district which may be convened to make nominations of candidates to fill the vacancies on the Circuit Bench of this District that such conventions follow the precedent of the last twelve years by refraining from nominating party candidates for either party to such office and that each of said judicial conventions join in endorsing a non-partisan judicial ticket to be composed of two candidates.

PAIN EASED QUICKLY WITHOUT DRUGS

Comfort for sufferers from the pains of headache, neuralgia, sciatica, neuritis, backache, rheumatism, strains, tired feet, stiffness.

The greatest thing in the world to quiet the aching nerves and pains and to break up chest colds without taking drugs is Ben-Gay (called Ben-Gay in English). Your doctor will tell you so. Your druggist will tell you so and we will send you a bottle of Ben-Gay if you will send us one hundred million people who have used it.

Ben-Gay (Ben-Gay) is made out of simple things which cannot harm the tender skin of a baby. You can and should rub plenty of Ben-Gay on the spot that hurts. Rub it in freely and deeply so it sinks down to the aching and painful nerve ends and soothes them. Rubbing in a ointment with many pain killers, because they may be made out of turpentine, red pepper, alcohol, ether, etc., which may burn and blister the skin.

But don't be short-sighted and just ask your druggist for "something for aches and pains." Ask your druggist for Ben-Gay by name. Rub the Ben-Gay on the aching spot (the package is called Ben-Gay in English). Rub the Ben-Gay on the aching spot just as you would rub any ointment. Rub it in freely and deeply so it sinks down to the aching and painful nerve ends and soothes them. Rubbing in a ointment with many pain killers, because they may be made out of turpentine, red pepper, alcohol, ether, etc., which may burn and blister the skin.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN MASON CITY

Mrs. M. C. Donovan of Mason City, Ill., a former resident of Morgan county, passed away at 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning in Springfield. She would have been 93 years old in April of this year.

She was the mother of Alex Donovan, 244 Franklin street, a mail carrier at the local post office. Mrs. Donovan often visited here and was well known by a number of Morgan county residents.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chesnut, early residents of this community. They resided on a farm on the Morton road east of the city. Mrs. Donovan's husband preceded her in death a number of years ago. Her son is the only immediate survivor.

The funeral will be held in Springfield Saturday, and the remains will be taken to Mason City for burial.

first such award made by the organization, which plans to make it annually.

Insull was chosen from among hundreds of candidates by a distinguished committee. The honor came to him in recognition of his work as chairman of the joint emergency relief fund for Cook county, which collected and has almost disbursed more than $10,000,000 for relief of unemployed. It was done with a total overhead cost of less than one-half of one per cent.

In addition to a sizeable cash contribution, Insull took a leave of absence from his duties as vice chairman of five of the largest of the Insull utility companies and from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15 gave entire attention to the tremendous work of collecting the money to be used for relief. He served without pay.

He is less than 32, but enjoys the distinction of having been cast for his position of an executive in the utility business before he was born. His father, Samuel Insull, trained him from childhood to that end.

Winslow, Ariz., Jan. 21.—(AP)—One of the United States army's greatest peace time feats, the bringing of relief to 20,000 Navajo and Zuni tribesmen faced with starvation in their scattered settlements in Arizona and New Mexico, was brought to a successful close last night.

For four days seven of the army's large bombing planes had "bombed" the tribesmen with food, dropping packages of provisions into snow banks adjacent to the settlements. Thirteen thousand pounds of food were dropped yesterday.

The army planes were called to the rescue when roads became blocked by record snows. The planes were to return to their base at March Field, Calif., today.

BALL PLAYERS
MAY HOLD OUT
ON PLANE TRIPS

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(AP)—American Association clubs may produce a new kind of baseball holdout next season—the player who refuses to fly.

As Thomas Jefferson Hickey, president of the Class AA loop, studied the proposal to ship the clubs from park to park by air today, he admitted some difficulty would be encountered.

"No doubt we will have some aerial holdouts for a time if we go through with our plan to use planes," Hickey said, "but I don't think we will be troubled very long. When the Columbus team flew last summer, two players refused to fly and were sent on by train, but flew next time and liked it."

Hickey said no definite decision as to flying would be made until air travel companies, interested in the league's proposal to lease two ships, present rates. The railroads were still in the running, although Hickey said they would have to reduce rates.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Approval of the nomination of United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago for the circuit bench was urged on a Senate Judiciary subcommittee today by Senator Glenn (R., Ill.).

Glenn said Judge Wilkerson was the "most competent person" to fill the place.

"His whole early life," Glenn said, "has been that of intimate association with the humble and poor people of the middle west."

Protests have been made against Wilkerson, who recently sentenced Al Capone for tax evasion, but at the outset of today's hearing none of the protesters appeared. The protests were principally with Wilkerson's granting an injunction in the railroad shopmen's strike of 1922.

Glenn said Wilkerson had the endorsement of the "people of Illinois, regardless of station in life, religious or party affiliation."

Although a Republican, the nominee had taken no active part in politics, Glenn said.

He added Wilkerson led the prosecution of the old $29,000,000 Standard Oil trust case and "stood not on the side of the special interests but on the side of the government and the people."

"Didn't that case become a 'dud,' asked Senator Blaine (R., Wis.)."

"The case was reversed," Glenn replied, "because Judge Landis became over-enthusiastic and the fine was considered too high by the higher court."

Mrs. Ernest K. Smith, employed as the X-ray technician, testified at length regarding two telephone calls on morning of October 17, one from Mrs. Judd and another purported to be from Mrs. LeRoil, but which she asserted, was from Mrs. Judd impersonating Mrs. LeRoil.

Smith testified Mrs. Judd informed the clinic she would be a few minutes late at her office. Then, the witness said, Mrs. Judd called again impersonating Mrs. LeRoil and saying she would not be at work.

Dr. Percy Brown, in charge of the X-ray department at the clinic, corroborated Mrs. Smith's testimony as to the telephone conversation and her statements to him regarding it.

Majority Of Sports Writers Express A Desire To Cover Olympic Games This Year

(NOTE: This is another of the series on results of the Associated Press sports editor's poll of newspaper editors on topics of national interest. It answers the query: "Among the outstanding prospective sports features for 1932 which would you prefer to see or cover?")

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—It will be necessary to enlarge the accommodations for the experts of the nation's press at the Olympic stadium this summer if the desire of the majority to "cover" the 1932 international games is fulfilled.

In response to the Associated Press questionnaire, 51 out of 90 sports editors and writers declare they would rather cover the Olympics than any other feature on the year's calendar.

This represents 56 per cent and probably is a fair index of the feeling generally among newspaper editors.

Most of those desiring to go to Los Angeles indicate a preference for the track and field sports, blue ribbon feature of the Olympics, but the varied appeal of the international program of events is indicated.

The world series of baseball is preferred by eight others, among them one who would like most to see John McGraw's Giants and Claude Mack's Athletics meet again after a long interval.

The Kentucky Derby appeals to four observers as the most attractive event, especially if Top Flight, the winter-book favorite, runs at Churchill Downs.

Various features of the 1932 football season, including the next Notre Dame-Southern California game, the Army-Navy renewal and even the Rose Bowl encounter, which takes place in the first day of 1932.

Preference in golf are hinged upon a possible return of Bob Jones to competition this year. An old campaigner in Los Angeles would like to be around if it could be arranged in the national open tournament to have Jones, Mac Smith, Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, Walter Hagen, Johnny Farrell and Tommy Armour all tied for the lead going into the final round. He would elect to follow Jones and Diegel.

with White Hall tonight at White Hall and they agreed to drop the scheduled game. The Crimsons are scheduled to play the Illinois School to the Deaf on Feb. 23.

Coach Walker last night was hunting for a team to play his Crimsons on Saturday night. He wants to give the Crimsons a game to play last night, a real tough team, and he is searching the country-side for a stiff opposition.

Roadhouse probably will be one of the teams to get an offer from the Crimsons. Coach Keagle has only one game left for this season, and since that time has taken on the Winchester tournament. However, Roadhouse does not go in as strong for basketball as it does for football.

A cursory glance at the Shurtliff line-up reveals that the Pioneers will introduce a strong and veteran team here this Saturday night when they meet the Blueboys.

Davis and Sterling, forwards, are the new members of the Shurtliff team, and they are expected to play a very strong team, which at times plays its dirty tricks. Tallman, center, the usual Nicolet and Mayfield, guards, are the others who will make up the team and who need no introduction to local audiences.

If there was no Nicolet on the Shurtliff team, we would declare that it was not a Shurtliff team. There has been at least one ever since we came to town and that has been some years ago.

It seems as if the Nicolets are always good enough to make the Shurtliff team too. A couple years ago it was a Nicolet who flung a long kick from the middle of the court to beat the Blueboys by one point in one of the most exciting games we ever have seen.

That's one thing about the Shurtliff and Illinois games—there's always plenty of excitement. And since the Blueboys handed Millikin a loss, there chances against the Pioneers seem brighter.

Shurtliff defeated Illinois Wesleyan 32 to 21. Wesleyan defeated Millikin on the Wesleyan court 30 to 18 and the Blueboys defeated Millikin on Millikin's court 32 to 28. Figure it out yourself. Thus far, the victories in the above chain have been marked by the Crimsons so soon after their game

TWELVE POINT PROGRAM URGED

Higher Standards for Intercollegiate Athletics Is Recommended to Association of American Colleges.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A twelve point program urging higher standards for intercollegiate athletics, especially football, was recommended today to the Association of American Colleges by its commission on athletics.

Nearly 600 delegates, most of whom were college and university presidents, heard the report delivered by Dr. Thomas S. Gates, commission chairman and president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Highlights of the recommendations were:
Shorten the season to six or seven games.
Eliminate pre-season practice.
Ban subsidizing.
Alcohol recruiting and proselyting.
Reduce coaches salaries to the general faculty scale.
Return the game to students.
Abolish drugery in training.
Eliminate training houses.
Schedule only competitors of equal strength.

Other points the commission championed included educating alumni to respect well developed athletic programs rather than lapsed student on one sport, full publicity because publicity is a test of honesty and physical education for all students.

The report pointed out that standardization of competitors physical powers existed in boxing, wrestling, racing and notably in yachting but that such rating was absent in college athletics.

Then there also was the possibility that Jacobs was talking at New York state's "no foul" rule. This regulation, which legislated out of existence foul from low punches, was waived when Schmelting and Sharkey first met in 1930. Schmelting won that clash, and with the heavyweight championship, on a foul in the fourth round. Fistic observers considered it extremely unlikely the state commission would allow the "no foul" rule to be waived again.

Schmelting plans to appear before the commission tomorrow to announce his willingness to meet Sharkey and also to indicate he is ready to post the $25,000 forfeit the commission demands to back his signature to any contract in this state.

The champion will leave on the Europea tomorrow for a short stay in Germany. He will return here the last week in March for a short exhibition tour before going into intensive training for the proposed match with Sharkey. Tentatively he has picked Encinotti, N. Y., for a training camp. He trained there for his match with Sharkey.

After three hours of discussion, the meeting broke up for the night with a few matters still to be settled. Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, said there were "two or three little questions that couldn't be ironed out." Johnston would not say what those questions were, but it was understood that they had to do with the percentages of the gate to be given the fighters and that Sharkey was insisting on a larger cut than the Garden was willing to offer.

They are scheduled to resume the discussions at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

This regulation, which legislated out of existence foul from low punches, was waived when Schmelting and Sharkey first met in 1930. Schmelting won that clash, and with the heavyweight championship, on a foul in the fourth round. Fistic observers considered it extremely unlikely the state commission would allow the "no foul" rule to be waived again.

Schmelting plans to appear before the commission tomorrow to announce his willingness to meet Sharkey and also to indicate he is ready to post the $25,000 forfeit the commission demands to back his signature to any contract in this state.

The champion will leave on the Europea tomorrow for a short stay in Germany. He will return here the last week in March for a short exhibition tour before going into intensive training for the proposed match with Sharkey. Tentatively he has picked Encinotti, N. Y., for a training camp. He trained there for his match with Sharkey.

After three hours of discussion, the meeting broke up for the night with a few matters still to be settled. Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, said there were "two or three little questions that couldn't be ironed out." Johnston would not say what those questions were, but it was understood that they had to do with the percentages of the gate to be given the fighters and that Sharkey was insisting on a larger cut than the Garden was willing to offer.

They are scheduled to resume the discussions at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Managers Claim Articles For Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey Bout Will Be Signed Today

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs and Johnny Buckley, managers of a couple of pieces of expensive fistic brie-a-brac, went into a long huddle today in an effort to reach agreement on terms for a heavyweight championship bout here in June between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey.

After a couple of hours of conversation it was announced the official signing for the match tentatively had been fixed for one o'clock tomorrow. Weary reporters took this announcement with a trifle more than the proverbial grain of salt, recalling the many delays in the now-abandoned match between Schmeling and Mickey Walker.

Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, said the principal difficulties still to be overcome so far as he was concerned, were financial terms. He indicated he was not yet satisfied with the terms offered.

VESUVIUS DARK AFTER QUAKE; REASON SOUGHT

Scientists Puzzled by Action of Volcano Long Active

Naples, Italy, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Ancient Vesuvius presented a new problem to scientists today after fresh growlings and explosions last night.

Why has Vesuvius' light come out? No one was hurt by last night's demonstration, which consisted of a light earthquake shock and loud explosive noises and rumblings.

As soon as the explosions ceased the crater, always active at night, had become dark and remained so. Scientists today began to determine why.

An observer, a military police barracks, a convent, a railroad and a hotel on the volcano's side "danced," reports said, during the disturbance but remained uninjured. Their quaking proved ominous to some.

The action of the movement was peculiar and they were actually lifted up and set down again.

The observer learned little about the crater of the volcano which was within or under the mountain.

NATIONALISTS IN INDIA ASSEMBLE ON MAIDAN GREEN

Demonstrators Dispersed by Police But They Come Right Back

By James A. Mills
Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Bombay, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Thousands of Nationalists, assembled on Maidan Green at a demonstration meeting that had been forbidden by the authorities, were dispersed again and again by the police today, but each time they swarmed back to the green.

A dozen of the demonstrators were injured and several were arrested. The meeting, called under the auspices of more than 40 mercantile associations, had been forbidden by the explanation that it might be used as a cloak for nationalist propaganda.

This order caused deep resentment in the business community, where it was described as an invasion of the right of free assembly. The government decided today to enlist the aid of the conventional Indian women, who obey the oriental mandate of seclusion. In its fight against the women agitators of the nationalist party.

This step was regarded as revolutionary because its purpose was to obtain the public assistance of women who lived behind the veil of "purdah" which forbids such public activities.

It was said that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of David Gandhi, son of the Mahatma.

NOTED BRITISH BIOGRAPHER OF QUEEN IS DEAD

Lytton Strachey Dies After Illness of Many Weeks

Inkpen, Berkshire, Eng., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Lytton Strachey, 52, one of the most prominent biographers of his time, died here today after an illness of many weeks.

Lytton Strachey, author of a number of widely read biographies, including "Queen Victoria" and "Elizabeth and Essex," was taken ill with paratyphoid fever in December. Strachey was the son of General Sir Richard Strachey. His mother, Lady Jane Strachey, is considered one of the brilliant women of England's older generation. St. Lee Strachey, editor of the London Spectator, was his cousin.

Mr. Strachey was of scholarly, aristocratic appearance with the tall, thin figure and long narrow face becoming to the cloistered thinker. He was a great reader.

He took him three years to write "Victoria" which was published in 1921 and had a huge circulation.

FIVE SUSPECTS QUESTIONED IN KIDNAPING CASE

Denver, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Police tonight announced they were holding Kenneth Coffman, 23, of Denver, for questioning in connection with the kidnaping for $50,000 ransom of Benjamin P. Bower, bakery manager.

Another man and three women were detained at police headquarters for check of their movements in the past 48 hours. Chief of Police Albert J. Clark said they had been suggested as suspects, but were being questioned on a phase of the kidnaping and information already obtained "looks promising."

While this was going on, officers were seeking a motive for the abduction other than ransom. Personal affairs and trouble with former bakery employees were investigated. Possibility of a "racket" to force bakeries to pay tribute was considered.

The grief-stricken wife of the bakery manager, who was kidnaped Tuesday night from his home by two men, has offered to pay "any reasonable sum" for his safe return.

STEAL CIGARETS
Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Cigarettes valued at $1,500 were stolen from a Rock Island freight car here last night. No trace of the thieves has been found.

There are 60,000 drug stores in the United States. They put up about 134,000,000 prescriptions a year.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ENDORSE HOOVER

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Ohio Republican state central committee today endorsed President Hoover for a second term in the white house and gave him what is virtually a free hand in selection of candidates for delegates to the Chicago national convention.

Overwhelming Hoover sentiment among committee members was evidenced by the fact that two of the 48 votes were cast in opposition to the Hoover proposals, which is construed as insuring the President a solid delegation from Ohio.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS ARE SERIOUSLY HURT

Dixon, Ill., Jan. 21.—(AP)—The basketball coach and two players of the Cornell College team of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, narrowly escaped possible death today when an automobile in which they were riding skidded off the pavement near here and caught fire in a ditch. All managed to scramble from the wreckage, but two of the players were seriously hurt.

The most seriously hurt are Robert Leght, suffering from a broken arm and internal injuries, and James Milhollin, severely cut and bruised.

Those who escaped with slight injuries and shock are Coach Frank Benesh, Jr., Herbert Bair, Roy Bowman, and John Colon, Jr., players.

The team was en route back to Mt. Vernon from Chicago, where it had played a game Wednesday night. Four of the team's motor cars were stuck in a ditch. The driver lost control of the car, a large sedan, on slippery pavement and it slid into a ditch, immediately bursting into flames.

The youths and coach fought their way out of the burning wreckage, half dragging the more seriously hurt ones. Passing motorists took them to the Dixon public hospital. Leght and Milhollin were confined there tonight, but the others were released after emergency treatment.

SUBMARINE IS BEST WEAPON FRENCH CLAIM

Article VIII stipulates that the maintenance of peace requires reduction of armaments "to the lowest point consistent with national safety."

"France regards it as vital," said the statement, "that the shall be able to transport her army quickly to any point in North Africa in the event of an attack on the manila."

"Therefore France will be disposed to approve any project at Geneva for reducing the size of battlefleets ships displacement limit was fixed at 35,000 tons by the Washington conference."

Insist on Security
(Copyright, 1932, Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—French insistence on security as a prerequisite for arms reduction meets no objection from the United States, which insists that the United States is not dependent on the guarantee.

With receipt here of the news that France intends to make a naval arms reduction offer at Geneva, it was the American attitude that much progress has been made on restricting sea armaments and the more urgent need now is to get land arms down. Nevertheless, careful consideration will be given to the readiness in Paris to join a naval cut conditioned on an agreement allocating naval strength on the basis of coequal requirements.

Reiteration of the French position on security in an official source was taken to reflect the government's views. In that connection, it was noted there was no reference in the official quarter to the United States becoming a military ally of France for defense purposes. This had been suggested in the chamber of deputies earlier in the day by Pierre Foregot, former cabinet minister.

Determination of Washington to steer away from any involvement in European affairs has become decidedly pronounced.

Some surprise was stirred by tonight's dispatch on the intentions of France as to a naval arms slash. The Geneva conference is open for any efforts toward reduction, but this evening's move would not want the effort to limit land arms to be abandoned.

At the same time, it would gladly cooperate on efforts for France and Italy to get together on naval matters which they left unsettled at the London conference.

The United States, as far as its own sea forces are concerned, is content to reduce its tonnage to a level comparative with that of other nations—no matter how low. However, it opposes a reduction in size of battlefleets below the 35,000 ton limit set by the Washington agreement. These are considered a necessary part of America's defensive weapons because of long coast lines and farflung possessions.

The opinion in Washington is that the question of reducing their size conference, since no nation in the present financial situation desires to build.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ENDORSE HOOVER

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Ohio Republican state central committee today endorsed President Hoover for a second term in the white house and gave him what is virtually a free hand in selection of candidates for delegates to the Chicago national convention.

Overwhelming Hoover sentiment among committee members was evidenced by the fact that two of the 48 votes were cast in opposition to the Hoover proposals, which is construed as insuring the President a solid delegation from Ohio.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 21.—(AP)—State officers of the Elks of Illinois, meeting here today, decided to hold the annual convention in this city August 11, 12 and 13.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS ARE SERIOUSLY HURT

Dixon, Ill., Jan. 21.—(AP)—The basketball coach and two players of the Cornell College team of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, narrowly escaped possible death today when an automobile in which they were riding skidded off the pavement near here and caught fire in a ditch. All managed to scramble from the wreckage, but two of the players were seriously hurt.

The most seriously hurt are Robert Leght, suffering from a broken arm and internal injuries, and James Milhollin, severely cut and bruised.

Those who escaped with slight injuries and shock are Coach Frank Benesh, Jr., Herbert Bair, Roy Bowman, and John Colon, Jr., players.

The team was en route back to Mt. Vernon from Chicago, where it had played a game Wednesday night. Four of the team's motor cars were stuck in a ditch. The driver lost control of the car, a large sedan, on slippery pavement and it slid into a ditch, immediately bursting into flames.

The youths and coach fought their way out of the burning wreckage, half dragging the more seriously hurt ones. Passing motorists took them to the Dixon public hospital. Leght and Milhollin were confined there tonight, but the others were released after emergency treatment.

HONOLULU WOMAN ATTACKED; POLICE HUNT EX-CONVICT

City Stirred Anew By Story of 29 Year Old Japanese Woman

Honolulu, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A new attack upon a woman and a grim hunt with ready pistols for a desperate convict as the suspected assailant were heaped upon Honolulu's grist of trouble today.

The city, still rumbling over other attacks, the bombing of one alleged assassin and the ensuing deluge of investigations and reform movements, was stirred anew by the story of Mrs. Toki Okazaki, 29, a Japanese.

She said she had been the victim of a man who overpowered her escort on the outskirts of the city last night.

Medical authorities made varying reports as to the accuracy of her story but finally concluded the evidence showed she had been criminally assaulted.

Mrs. Okazaki identified a photograph of Daniel Lyman, escaped murderer convict, as the assailant and police were ordered to hunt if necessary in their hunt for him. Lyman escaped Oahu prison December 31, 1931, along with Lui Kaikapu, burglary convict. The latter was captured and returned to prison for life after confessing to criminally attacking a school teacher January 2.

As the man hunters went into action city and county attorney, James F. Gilliland, went before the grand jury to ask the indictment of Mrs. Granville Portocarr; her son-in-law, Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie; E. J. Lofe and Albert O. Jones, for the murder of Joseph Kanawala, suspected attacker of Mrs. Massie.

It was with great secrecy that the Honolulu grand jury began investigation.

All transoms of the grand jury room were closed as a large crowd gathered around the judiciary building.

Dr. Robert Faus, city and county physician, the first witness, was called to describe the condition of Kanawala's body at the time of the autopsy.

FRANCIS CROWLEY PUT TO DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Pays Extreme Penalty For the Slaying of Nassau County Policeman

By Robert St. John
Associated Press Staff Writer
Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley went to death tonight in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, a slight smile being the only trace of the bragado who characterized the criminal career the 20-year-old gunman pursued from his early teens.

"Hello, Sarge," he said to a guard as he was led into the yellow-tinted execution chamber to be electrocuted for the slaying of a Long Island policeman.

He looked fleetingly at the 35 spectators and then as the electrodes were fastened to his legs he said to Robert Elliott, official executioner: "That one on the leg isn't tight enough."

Then as an electrode was fitted to his head Crowley said, "tell mother I appreciate everything she did. Thank Mrs. Lawes."

He referred to his foster mother, Mrs. Anna Crowley, and to the wife of Warden Lewis E. Lawes.

His foster mother and her daughter, who were his last visitors, had been active in his behalf from the time he was captured last May in a New York apartment house in a spectacular display of gunfire until they had exhausted all hope for a commutation of the death sentence he received for slaying Frederick Hirsch, Long Island policeman.

As the executioner started for the room where the control switch is, Crowley said:

"My last wish is to send my love to my mother."

His face was hidden by a mask, his fists were clenched.

When the current was broken prison doctors applied their stethoscopes and pronounced him dead at 11:07 p. m.

He had entered the chamber at 11:02 p. m., led by prison chaplain, the Rev. John P. McCaffery, repeating prayers.

Outside Sing Sing's walls 17-year-old Helen Walsh, Crowley's one-time sweetheart, sat in an automobile. She wept and refused to talk.

Earlier in the day she had been refused permission to visit Crowley. She had obtained a court order in support of her request, but was denied admittance by Warden Lawes, who said Crowley did not desire to see her and such a visit "would be making a biographical performance" out of the execution.

Crowley's attitude was attributed by attorneys to his strong hatred for "cops." Crowley had been told, he said, that his former sweetheart was keeping company with a policeman.

In pleading for clemency for the young gunman, whose career encompassed numerous robberies and shootings, his attorney said Crowley's father was a policeman, who had not married his mother.

A portion of Crowley's last hours were spent gazing at a banner curtain of an electric chair which he had gazed on the walls of his cell.

By John L. Cooley
Associated Press Financial Writer
New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A different stock market today failed to reach a decision on trend.

Although during most of the session prices looked a little stronger, there was a sell-off toward the close and the average for the day was down.

Volume was around recent low levels at 1,237,768 shares.

Trading seemed to be under professional auspices. Operators in the rail group were reluctant to leave the rails idle and bid them up 1 to 3 points, presumably on the strength of a conviction that an agreement on the wage cut was surely coming.

In fact, advice received by some brokerage houses said a settlement was expected by the end of this week. Gains in the rail shares tapered off eventually and a few, including New York Central, Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific, finished with small losses.

U. S. Steel touched a new high for 1932, selling a point higher at the best but losing virtually all its gain. Certain market circles feel the corporation will make another quarterly dividend payment of $1 on the common; nevertheless, there is no unanimity of opinion as to what action will be taken and the usual assortment of guesses is going the rounds.

The fourth quarter of 1937 was undoubtedly the poorest, but much probably depends on how the directors view current trends.

As had been foreseen, however, by the money market and government bonds, the New York Reserve bank retained the 3 1/2 per cent discount rate. Thus it seemed that the Central Bank's aggressive about credit expansion, perhaps because of the reaction abroad to interpretations placed on anti-inflationary moves already made here. It was hardly believed that losses of earmarked gold had influenced the decision against a rate cut at this time.

Rumor said the Bank of England was rapidly repaying its credit at the reserve. It has been expected for some time that the accommodation will have been fully retired by the first of February and that the British banking authorities will not change their own discount rate until that time. Meanwhile, bankers have come to terms on the "standstill" agreement for short term German credits. The repatriation situation, however, remains highly confused.

The weekly statement of the Reserve System showed that no important changes had taken place despite the talk of mild inflation. Bull charges by the New York bank which last week cut its buying rate, declined, so did discounts. Currency circulation dropped $600,000—a move in the right direction, but still not as much as bankers would like to see. Reserve credit was of $2,000,000. Brokers loans, down $300,000, clearly indicated the lack of nibbles at the stock market bait.

Wheat, corn and cotton made nominal gains.

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Secondary rail lines again led a modest upward movement in the bond market today and quiet strength was manifested in various sections of the list.

Sentiment was moderately improved by further steps toward early passage of the reconstruction finance corporation bill and reports from Chicago that the railroads were looking for a through experiencing unlooked for delays, still was headed toward success.

The majority of the United States government bonds established slight gains and losses on Liberty 3 1/2s and Treasury 4 1/2s were fractional.

A number of the transportation mortgages picked up from one to 4 points.

There was a mixed trend in foreign obligations with the Argentines gaining from 1 to 2 points and some of the German corporate issues advancing. German government 3 1/2s dropped 1/2 point and the 7s were somewhat higher. British 5 1/2s eased and Japanese loans were steady.

Utilities and Industrials added a trifle to their averages.

While the market verged on dullness, there was somewhat more activity than yesterday. Sales totaled $124,000 and the averages for 60 corporate bonds were 4-10 of a point higher.

He said Rosenwald had paid personal property taxes in Lake county for two years and maintained his legal residence there. Counsel for the estate replied the financier had always considered Chicago his home.

FEED ECONOMY
URGED LIVESTOCK
MARKETING MEET

Leontine in feeding was stressed by E. T. Robbins, livestock marketing expert of the university extension service, of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, here Thursday.

Mr. Robbins addressed a group of Morgan county livestock producers, the morning session being devoted to the feeding of calves and the use of a low market. He advised the feeding of home grown feeds with a minimum of protein provisions being supplemented.

Mr. Robbins said there is a great average of farm lands now devoted to the growing of legumes, adding that an acre of legumes is now worth as much as an acre of grain crops.

The average amount of grain necessary to produce a marketable hog weighing 250 pounds, said the speaker, is 1,000 pounds. The average amount of livestock growers are able to produce a porker of this size with 750 pounds of concentrates.

Mr. Robbins said that it is better to raise the herd which is to be fed for market than it is to purchase the thin calves from the market. At present the range operators are keeping their calves a month longer in order to get more poundage, and when the calves are purchased alone in December, the weather is bad and they do not stand the strain of shipping.

Many feeders keep a sufficient number of cows to raise a herd of calves each year. The cows are raised through the winter. They run on pasture in the summer, clean up the stalk fields in the fall, and live on the checker legume hay and silage during the winter. The calves arrive in April and run with the cows on bluegrass pasture all summer.

During the threshing season in August, the calves are kept up during the day and fed oats in a trough, but are put back to the cows at night. In the corn husking season, the farmers start feeding the calves corn. In early winter they are sorted and the fat calves are shipped.

By maintaining a herd of cows, various combinations of the feeding business can be worked. The herd may be divided when the cows come fresh, and kept separate for dairy purposes. The calves are then put on skim milk, and the farmer gets the cream cheese. The cows may be kept on forage at little cost.

In Indiana the farmers have figured the cost of their home-raised calves which are found to average $25 to 30 a head. It is not wise, the speaker said, to feed calves on ground corn. They will not fatten as soon as they will on concentrated feed. Ground corn is all right for calves, but the calves from a peck of corn weigh 3 pounds, and a peck of shelled corn weighs 14 pounds. A calf is compelled to eat this large quantity of corn in ground corn to get the food value of the shelled corn. This he will not eat as much and it will take him longer to get fat.

During the closing of meeting Prof. Robbins also discussed the feeding of horses, hogs and sheep. Several interesting discussions of stock feeding took place.

KIDNAPING OF
ROBERT FITCHIE
OF INTEREST HERE

The kidnaping and holding for ransom of Robert G. Fitchie, president of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' Union, and former president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, is of local interest as Fitchie had a wide acquaintance among local labor leaders.

It will be remembered that in August, 1930, Mr. Fitchie visited local laborites in announcing one of the largest non-union contractors in this state, who had the contract for remodeling the main building at the State Hospital. Fitchie and the local committee were complimented by state officials on the way they conducted conferences.

Fitchie carried membership in one of the most active labor unions in the state, and for years he has led the fight to keep racketeering out of the ranks.

Twenty-two members of the Hi-Y club, who gathered at the Grace M. E. church parlors last evening at five-thirty o'clock for their regular meeting. Supper was served to the group by the mothers of the members of the club.

John Furry presented a short talk on the subject of "The Relationship of Boys and Girls" after which he led a spirited and interesting discussion by the members.

During the business period, it was announced that the induction ceremony for new members will be held at the regular meeting. The members voted to hold their annual date night on Feb. 4.

LIONS CLUB HEARS
TALK ON WORLD
WAR EXPERIENCES*Mrs. Marian Schaeffer is the Speaker at Meeting of Clubmen

Members of the Lions club were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. Marian Schaeffer, head of the department of expression at MacMurray college. Mrs. Schaeffer told of her experience as an entertainer in France during the world war. She said that previous to the Armistice, the task of entertaining the boys was not difficult; but after the Armistice, the way of the entertainer was indeed hard.

The men were disappointed and critical. She told of two instances, one in a camp of hard-boiled regular army engineers, and another in a crowded hall where the men had organized their opposition in advance. During her composite and ability to give back about as good as her audience sent, Mrs. Schaeffer was able to put on her program.

She told the clubmen that some times when the entertainers were late, the men themselves would attempt a program. She then gave an amusing imitation of a buck private reciting the old poem, "Woodman, Spare That Tree."

A four-year old American girl, accompanied by her parents, visited a camp of young American aviators on the morning of a new record. The girl, who had been persuaded to sing, Mrs. Schaeffer's impersonation of the child's rendition of a favorite nursery song was greatly appreciated by the Lions. The entertainer next gave a takeoff on the entertainment of a young American singer who was studying opera in Paris when the war started, and was drafted into the entertainment service.

Mrs. Schaeffer concluded her program with two readings which the boys in France liked best, one entitled "By Courier" from the works of O. Henry, and the other the story of Red Riding Hood, as told by a little girl. The club members showed their appreciation of the program by hearty applause.

STATE'S ATTORNEY
MAY GO INTO THE
CLEANING GAME*Would Open Establishments
to Lure Racketeers'
'Threats'

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The state's attorney today contemplated going into the cut rate cleaning and dyeing business in his war on racketeers.

The prosecutor, John A. Swanson, who is a former police officer, has been in business and civic leaders met this afternoon to form a board of strategy to solve the recent slaying of Benjamin Foreberg and to purge the cleaning and dyeing industry of its hoodlums.

Headquarters for the newly formed board of strategy will be in the criminal courts building, convenient to the state's attorney's office. It will be partly financed, officials said, by public funds and partly by the cleaners and dyers' association.

Plans for the opening of cut-rate cleaning and dyeing establishments throughout the city to lure racketeers threats and thus expose the hoodlums were disclosed after the meeting. Officials said they believed the procedure would lead far towards unweaving the leaders and terrorists who in recent months have perpetrated acts of sabotage, including attack on non-union employees, the shattering of shop windows in "independent" plants, and the pouring of acid over thousands of dollars worth of clothing.

Acting on "grapevine" information from the underworld, police still sought three men for the fatal shooting of Rosenberg near his home in Maywood a fortnight ago. They refused to reveal the names of the men sought.

Officials today definitely eliminated the slaying yesterday of Morris Cost as an act in the cleaners' and dyers' "war" and said they had received definite information that it had been killed because of his bootlegging activities.
